

Graham Coxell joins Investmaster Board

Investmaster are very pleased to announce that Graham Coxell has this month joined Investmaster as its CEO. Graham played a major role in the development and growth of Marlborough Sterling, latterly as Chief Executive and leading their very successful IPO in 2001. During his tenure Graham was responsible for a number of acquisitions including the Exchange plc.

In 2005 Graham joined the Capita Group defining and implementing Capita's Financial Services strategy, including the acquisition of a number of complimentary businesses, including the SIPP administrator PPML. Prior to his departure during Graham was appointed Financial Services Business and Commercial Development Director.

Graham has joined Investmaster at an exciting time in Investmaster's evolution and critically as the market's distribution model changes. Investmaster grew its revenue by over 20% last year and within the last year has relocated both of its key offices to newly refurbished premises.

Peter Little, Investmaster's CEO, said "We are delighted that Graham has agreed to assist Investmaster as we continue to grow. His experience in the financial sector, especially on platforms for WRAP and SIPP administration, is second to none. We look forward to benefiting from this experience as we develop our products in response to client and market demands"
